Familiar Saying of the Week:

Last straw.

(When a person has been pushed as far as he will go, he might say that it is "the last straw." This term comes from the saying, "The straw that broke the camel's back," in which one small straw can have a big effect if the camel is already weighed down.)

Poem of the Week: The Line Riddle

by Barbara Seiger

I'm a line, but you can't stand on me.
I'm a line, but you can't hang clothes on me.
I'm a line, but you can't fish with me.
I'm a line, but you can't write dates on me.
What am I?
I'm a timeline, and you can learn from me.
