

Parent Tips for a Successful Year in English Language Arts & Middle School

- ~ Visit my website weekly at otmstitans.com > teachers > Jackson, Kelly > "Homework / Upcoming Assignments" Blog to know your student's weekly expectations.
- ~ Support Homework / Studying Expectations – Students need to read nightly to build reading fluency and study their weekly vocabulary words to support reading comprehension. Students will read a novel per nine-weeks and complete a project-based assignment as a major homework grade.
- ~ Active Parent – Stay on top of your student's grades by viewing "Active Parent" weekly.
- ~ Responsibility, organization, and respect are key character traits for your student to uphold daily.
- ~ Communication is key to your student's success. I can be reached by leaving a message with the front office, by joining my "Remind," and by email (kejackson@madison-schools.com).
- ~ Encourage, encourage, encourage ... Success begins at home. Students need to know that you want them to give their very best every day.

I am looking forward to a GREAT year!
